Garry Winogrand (1928(56)1984)

Hizo miles de fotografías, la mayor parte todavía inéditas, tras su muerte dejó seis mil quinientos carretes en blanco y negro sin revelar y también unas cuarenta y cinco mil diapositivas en color

Tomaba siempre sus imágenes con una Leica de 35-milímetros

A Winogrand le interesaba hacer foto, pero no revelarlas, imprimirlas, exponerlas, editarlas en libros…

Tras la muerte de Winogrand, John Szarkoswki, director del departamento de fotografía del MoMA, se hizo cargo de positivar y llevar a contactos los seis mil quinientos carretes que el difunto había dejado tras de sí, y organizó la exposición póstuma restrospectiva Figments from the Real Work, Instantáneas del Mundo Real, que se convirtió en la exposición canónica de Winogrand
